Dear Governors and RGGI Board Members,

The following 802 people have signed onto the following comments by the Sierra Club via an online petition and also added personalized messages found on the subsequent pages:

“Thank you for continuing to lead the Nation by strengthening and extending the popular and successful Regional Greenhouse Gas Initiative. Your efforts are needed now more than ever to demonstrate that bipartisan progress to reduce climate-disrupting pollution, create jobs, and save families and businesses money by investing in a prosperous clean energy economy will continue in the Northeast.

I urge you to finalize a future for RGGI that keeps our state on track to meet our climate commitments, reducing pollution at least 5% annually from 2020 levels through 2030.”

Climate Change is our most important issue.

It is imperative to do all we can to increase our Regional Greenhouse Gas Initiative.

The weather events are costing our country between 15 and 20 billion for just this year, not to mention the hardships and dislocation involved. we must maintain progress toward reducing the greenhouse effect.

Our state is in severe drought! Those of us who are aware & activists are extremely alarmed right now. I live in the city of NB & Mayor Stewart has been an impediment in our process to save our Shuttlemeadow watershed land & has recklessly sold (pending) our Patton Brook well to Southington which could be pumping 1.5 million gallons per day to NB residents! With the Republicans controlling all three branches of the Federal Government, it is essential that Connecticut and other states continue to strengthen the Greenhouse Gas Initiative. I have to keep on mentioning the name John Denver, because he was a truly active environmentalist who fought hard to save the beautiful mountains, preserve clean air and clean streaming waters, and fighting against pollution. It's been a little more than 19 years since we lost the beloved singer and songwriter in a horrible small plane crash. It's still heartbreaking to this day thinking about it. There's a lot of uncertainty of the new Presidential Administration coming in next January. Right now, America and the world really needs John Denver more than ever. Sadly, I think too many people don't know or remember who he was, but we need to preserve his legacy and his message, and I think if he would've been alive today, I guarantee John Denver would've championed the issue of climate change facing our country and the world too.

I live in a beautiful area called cape Cod, the area I live in is the busiest area on the Cape. We have an airport, a bus station, a Steam Ship Authority, (to transport, people to the Islands) a hospital, which my road is the main road for the ambulances. Medical buildings all around us, people are either patients or in medical field, so there are tons of cars. A train station, that transports tourists, or people going to Boston or off Cape. Since I have been living here in the past 4 years, I have noticed extreme soot and black dust on basically everything. I know this because where I use to live was a very quite neighborhood, I want to say county atmosphere. We have wind farms on the cape, and block Island which is in the process. So for years we need to clean up our act and take charge. Or we will not have a planet left!!!!

Our states' Governors and our RGGI representatives should send very powerful signals to the rest of this nation by finalizing strong, bipartisan pollution limits and keeping this state on track to fulfill our climate commitments - which benefit us, give us state pride, and keep our economy moving in the best direction, which also is most sustainable..

Also, considering how vulnerable our electric grid is from attack, New York State, and all the states, should each have their own electric grid, run by clean, renewable energy. Dear Governor, don't let up for an instant. it's not like we are doing well to begin with in trying to roll back effects of climate change; with the new administration coming in to washington, theywill no doubt take every advantage to enrich themselves at the expense of the rest of the world. Dear Mr. Cuomo,

I am a member of the inaugural year for the Excelsior Conservation Corps that you helped to establish under the state parks initiative. Throughout my 10 month service, I met countless folks in the parks and on trails throughout the Catskills and Adirondacks, and the one thing we all share in common out there is a love for nature. They are all aware of the damage that greenhouse gas emissions cause, and many of them don't know how to help. I want to speak on behalf of them as well when I say that the reversal of climate change through initiatives that end fossil fuel/greenhouse gas emissions and promote renewable energy is a top priority, not just for the residents of New York, but for those that are not yet born, and for the fragile, tiny planet we call home that is currently being pushed to its limits, if not beyond already.

Governor Cuomo,

Since Trump's election you have done an amazing job of standing up for the state and reassuring residents that you will continue to protect civil rights for all people and for that, I thank you. Sadly, of course, the people aren't the only ones who need to be urgently protected. As Trump tries to throw all of our amazing progress in climate change out the window, we need strong leaders like you to do what you can to continue our essential progress in combatting climate change. We've already seen its disastrous effects in the form of droughts and storms, and it's only going to get worse. Please stand up for climate change and help the Northeast stay on track as a leader in clean energy. I am a true believer in solar energy, and there have been so many break throughs in how solar panels are made, some being not much thicker than an inch even, almost like a narrow film. Lightweight and strong... how can we go wrong with this? I have great faith in your energy initiatives and I know that upstate NY could use the infusion of monies towards solar farms. Why not allow solar companies to be given tax breaks to rent 10 years of leasing to build these great farms? The dairy industry may appreciate the ability to use their land frugally. I oppose legislation that does not measure all emissions from all sources - transportation, farming, industry, electricity, home heating - using best science. A strong carbon reduction plan needs to properly measure not just CO2 but CH4. We can't rely on EPA's flawed measurements of methane which is leaking from fracked gas production to delivery at 12%. Tell Cuomo you oppose legislation that only requires so-called "major" polluters to self-report their emissions and lets other polluters off the hook. I do not want legislation that opens the door to a fleet of small fracked-gas-power plants.

New York needs to be a climate leader by demonstrating and pushing forward the values and needs of the 21st century. Climate change needs to be mitigated and the vast majority of New Yorkers want to see an investment and action taken to secure our futures and the futures of those that come after us regardless of what other communities have or have not decided to do. It is no longer a question of if or when, this is very critical need: if we don't have a planet, we have nothing. Thanks!

There is no way to get around the need for continued and stepped up action as regards lowering world greenhouse gas (co2, methane, etc.) emission now and quickly. On top of that we must not even think of rolling back our New York State ban on horizontal hydrofracturing.. Our waters and air we breathe are under assault by our human industrial (yes, and that includes farming) practices. Mother nature will automatically balance itself by killing us off if we do not act quickly and innovatively and collectively (in large enough number) to reduce our polluting footprint in our closed earthly environment

An additional step, generally overlooked but with huge potential is to enforce speed limits on state and interstate roads. 19 pounds of carbon dioxide are created with every gallon of gas that is burned. Rapid acceleration and speeds over 55 greatly increase consumption (nearly 15% more at 65, 27% more at 75.) Law enforcement and public education would be a big help.
