going too far in relations to steps the usa takes in using certain fossil fuels makes little sense in changing climate if china and india, two huge users far more than the usa dont take steps to reduce their use of fossil fuels. we cannot stop climate change alone if we dont get china and india to do the same. and i see no indications that either nation intends to use less coal, which is an extremely hazardous fossil fuel that causes climate change. i see no reason for usa to take steps alone. jean publicee jean public1@gmail.com
