

Dear MDE Secretary Ben Grumbles and PSC Chairman Kevin Hughes,

Thank you for your continued leadership to build a clean energy economy and reduce carbon pollution in the Northeast through the Regional Greenhouse Gas Initiative (RGGI). As you consider future policy scenarios to explore through the 2016 Program Review, I encourage you to ensure the program is consistent with avoiding the worst impacts of climate disruption and meeting our new 40% by 2030 climate pollution reduction goal. .

I applaud initial plans to consider reducing pollution by more than 20 million tons from 2020 to 2030 and eliminating the dangerous loopholes of offsets and the cost containment reserve. However, analysis by Synapse Energy Economics shows we need even deeper early reductions in carbon pollution from the electric sector. As such, in addition to that scenario, I encourage you to support evaluating more ambitious cap reductions as well.

Since RGGI was enacted, climate-disrupting carbon pollution from power plants in the region has declined nearly 5% a year, and the revenues raised to date are projected to save $2.9 billion for households and businesses and create tens of thousands of new jobs. By continuing that progress -- including fully analyzing an additional 5% annual decline in pollution from 2020 to 2030 and selecting a cap consistent with state and regional climate goals - we can generate even more benefits for our communities

Dear Governors and Members of the RGGI Board,

The 441 Sierra Club activists from Maryland, listed below have signed on to the following comments by the Sierra Club via an online petition:

Thank you for your continued leadership to build a clean energy economy and reduce carbon pollution in the Northeast through the Regional Greenhouse Gas Initiative (RGGI). As you consider future policy scenarios to explore through the 2016 Program Review, I encourage you to ensure the regional program is consistent with avoiding the worst impacts of climate disruption and meeting our new 40% by 2030 climate pollution reduction goal.

I applaud initial plans to consider reducing pollution by more than 20 million tons from 2020 to 2030 and eliminating the dangerous loopholes of offsets and the cost containment reserve. However, analysis by Synapse Energy Economics shows we need even deeper early reductions in carbon pollution from the electric sector. As such, I encourage you to support evaluating a more ambitious cap reduction of 5% per year from 2020 to 2030 as well, and ultimately agree to a RGGI cap that holds all participating states accountable to their climate goals

Since RGGI was enacted, climate-disrupting carbon pollution from power plants in the region has declined nearly 5% a year and the revenues raised to date are projected to save $2.9 billion for households and businesses and create tens of thousands of new jobs. By continuing that progress -- including fully analyzing an additional 5% annual decline in pollution from 2020 to 2030 and selecting a cap consistent with state and regional climate goals - we can generate even more benefits for our communities. It is imperative that Maryland considers the equitable distribution of benefits from the RGGI program and involves a broad set of stakeholders in the decision making process for the state. Residents and organizations from environmentally overburdened communities must be involved in this process to reduce pollution and distribute the economic benefits of the program.

Dear Governors and Members of the RGGI Board,

The 2,708 Sierra Club activists listed below have signed on to the following comments by the Sierra Club via an online petition:

Thank you for your continued leadership to build a clean energy economy and reduce carbon pollution in the Northeast through the Regional Greenhouse Gas Initiative (RGGI). As your officials consider future policy scenarios to explore through the 2016 Program Review, I encourage you to ensure the program is consistent with avoiding the worst impacts of climate disruption and meeting our state climate goals.

Analysis by Synapse Energy Economics shows that we need to continue to steadily reduce carbon pollution from the electric sector between 2020 and 2030 to meet our broader 2030 climate goals. As such, it is imperative that your designated representatives to the RGGI process support evaluating more ambitious cap reductions, including a cap level that declines by 5% each year from 2020 levels through 2030.

Since RGGI was enacted, climate-disrupting carbon pollution from power plants in the region has already been achieving a nearly 5% average annual decline, and the revenues raised to date are projected to save $2.9 billion for households and businesses and create tens of thousands of new jobs. By continuing that progress -- including fully analyzing an additional 5% annual decline in pollution from 2020 levels through 2030 and selecting a cap consistent with state and regional climate goals - we can generate even more benefits for our communities.

Dear RGGI Board and Governors:

The 2,284 Sierra Club activists from New York, listed below, have signed on to the following comments by the Sierra Club via an online petition:

Thank you for making New York a climate and clean energy leader for the region and the country. From phasing out coal, to banning fracking, to mandating that half the state's power come from renewables by 2030, you are helping create a more just, resilient, and sustainable New York. We stand ready to work with you and your Administration to build on this momentum.

As you're aware, in 2016 the Regional Greenhouse Gas Initiative (RGGI), the Northeast's flagship program to reduce regional carbon pollution, is undergoing an important program review. The outcome of this review process will have a profound impact on the trajectory of the Northeast's carbon reduction and clean energy build-out for decades, and represents a critical opportunity for New York to double-down on its regional leadership in reducing dangerous climate pollution.

To date, states participating in RGGI have seen significant declines in their carbon pollution, even while growing their economies, creating jobs, and lowering electric rates. Annual power sector carbon emissions have declined by approximately 5 percent per year since the inception of the program. A 2015 evaluation of the RGGI program by the Analysis Group determined that between 2012 and 2014 New York received over $380 million in auction proceeds, which it directed back into the State's economy through investment in energy efficiency, renewable energy programs, and other greenhouse gas programs. New York also netted over 4,400 job-years during this three-year period.

If New York wants to protect the emission reductions anticipated from its Clean Energy Standard and other region-leading policies, and ensure the climate gains in New York are not offset by backsliding in other states, it should push to lock in a RGGI cap that aligns with state and regional climate goals. This requires fully evaluating a RGGI cap that cuts electric sector emissions by 5 percent each year between 2020 and 2030. A recent report by Synapse Energy Economics, Inc. demonstrated that a RGGI in line with this 40 percent goal would yield $2 billion in energy savings, while creating an average of over 29,000 new job-years right here in New York.

And with the federal Clean Power Plan on hold, it has never been more important for climate leaders like New York to take the reins and lead the Northeast toward truly ambitious action on climate and clean energy.

A stronger RGGI must also acknowledge that the impacts of power generation and of climate change often fall disproportionately on underserved communities. New York can lead the way in making sure an environmental justice analysis is central to the implementation of RGGI.

Governor Cuomo, with your record on climate leadership, we're confident you can lead the Northeast in negotiating a stronger and more just RGGI. New York's families, businesses, health professionals, and coastal communities will thank you.
